Ministry to Widows with Children

By giving cows, goats, and other types of provision, East-West is empowering widows toward self-sustainability. This is possible through your donations. Adopt-a-Legacy International Ministries is a board consisting of members from five different Kenyan tribal groups based in Kitale, Kenya. They serve as our local governing body to insure proper use of funds and to select appropriate recipients.

Mary is a widow with ten children. East-West Ministries used donations to buy her a cow and supplies (about $450). The products derived from the milk provide enough income for her and her children to attain self-sufficiency.

Finally, a School!

Before leaving for schooling, Shadrak lived among the Am*ya Valley Pokot in a remote arid mountainous region of northern Kenya. When he graduated from school, the elders of a Ch*ro church determined Shadrak was the perfect person to start a primary school where there has never been one within an eight-hour walk.

The Am*ya Valley Pokot know only their own unwritten tribal language and struggle to live with little food and water. The water found is usually disease-ridden. Education will enable the next generation to improve their living conditions and connect with the outside world.

While knowing he could live better in the city, Shadrak gladly returned to start the school. After two months, 92 children are walking hours to attend. East-West Ministries initiated this effort and engaged the Ch*ro church to support Shadrak. We have planned a school building, water well, and church for the

These Pokot mothers are on the new Amaya Valley primary school board for the Pokot children. They are standing to be recognized for their position. Before the Gospel came to this region, women were not allowed to stand with men. We are teaching human dignity and other biblical perspectives while preserving amoral elements of the Pokot culture.

These Pokot children spend their days tending the flocks and searching for water in a rugged inhospitable terrain—a life similar to that in Bible times. Think of David tending the flock when all his older brothers were at the battlefront facing Goliath. Some of the shepherds visited by the angels announcing Jesus’ birth may have been boys and girls like these.

When we showed the Jesus Film to Kenyan herding families, they gasped at the appearance of angels announcing a king’s birth to shepherds just like themselves. Your donations help provide technology to show the Jesus Film in remote areas without electricity.

"One who is gracious to a poor person lends to the Lord, and He will repay him for his good deed." Prov. 19:17
I recently returned from Kitale, Kenya, where I visited orphans and met with the ALIM board. We inspected a church building and orphan home, and provided building materials on Mt. Elgon. Displaced people were left with nothing but bare land after Saboat intertribal fighting during which one pastor at the Bible Training School was killed. Through donors' generosity, ten families will now have homes.

We rejoice that I have reached one fourth of my personal monthly support needed.

Thank you for your prayer support and financial participation!

This summer two more of her Bible studies, Kona with Jonah and Frappé with Philippians, will be available for women.

I carved out space for a home office, and have been adapting to a different life from what I knew at Winstad PC. Never while I worked there did a giraffe take food from my mouth.
